EXPATRIATE AND EMPLOYER TAX COMPLIANCE AND ADVISORY

Tax rate	Progressive tax rate: 19 % – 25%.
Tax period	Calendar year
Tax residency / Domicile according to domestic law	Domicile in Slovakia. Present for at least 183 days during a calendar year in Slovakia.
Tax registration	At arrival, within 1 month from the commencement month of the taxable activities in Slovakia. At departure, within 1 month following the month of the termination of the taxable activities in Slovakia. Generally, the registration duty is not applicable to persons receiving only employment income (from a local or a foreign employer).
Employment income definition	Remuneration is cash and other taxable in-kind benefits regardless whether it is paid regularly or as a one off payment (e.g. cost of living allowance, home leave allowance, bonus, usage of cars etc.)
Examples of tax exemption	Value of food provided by employer to employees (within certain limits); value of beverages provided by employer to employees at workplace; use of leisure, healthcare, educational, pre-school or sports facilities provided by employer to employees, travel expense reimbursement up to certain limits, etc.
Specific expatriate concession	Not applicable.
Income of board members	Treated as employment income (executive as well as non-executive).
Tax returns	Submitted by taxpayer within 3 months following the respective calendar year (i.e. usually until 31 March of following year). The deadline should be extended to 3 months (generally) or 6 months (if the taxpayer is having income derived from the sources abroad) based on written announcement delivered to the Slovak Tax Authorities within regular deadline – i.e. usually until 31 March of following year. In case of having only employment income, the annual tax reconciliation should be performed by employer for employee (instead of tax return submission).
Tax payments	Tax advances shall be withheld when paying, remitting or crediting taxable wages to the employee's favour, regardless of the period, to which the taxable wage is related and balancing payment within the same deadlines as submission of tax returns.
